ANARCHY IN MEXICO.

Senator Albert B. Fall, who, as our readers know, was a member of the senate subcommittee appointed to investigate Mexican affairs, tells the Mexico Society of New York that Mexico is threatened with anarchy. He declared that the destruction of the population must make a last, rally and give together a strong government or the country will be saved by some stronger power. He said:

"The population of Mexico consists of 43 per cent of pure Indian blood, 19 per cent of white blood, practically all Spanish, and 28 per cent of mixed blood. The latter class of Mexicans, those who have built it up, compose only 20 per cent of the population. I am sure of it this class that Porfirio Diaz, the man who really made Mexico, set up in power, and so made the country safe.
Diaz, however, failed to recognize the growing up of a huge and disoriented middle class—the 28 per cent of mixed blood—a class partially educated, able to read papers in their own language and able to make itself felt in those two or three years. Many of them had come to this country or had relations here and seen the contrast in conditions.

"As a protest against conditions in Mexico the liberal party was organized, with a journal in St. Louis.
Its paper, La Regeneracion, had and still has, an enormous secret distribution. This paper called on its subscribers to join Francisco I. Madero to overthrow Porfirio Diaz with the promise of the open letting some other chief to overthrow Madero, and then all another chief to overthrow the latest vicar, and all government in Mexico should be overthrown, whereupon the people would take charge of all stolen property from their enemies by the ruling minority under Diaz, and they in separate communities would reappropriate all property to its primitive owners, native tribes included, and as separate communities make laws to govern themselves.

"That was the platform in 1906, and that is the platform today, according to documents obtained by the senate committee. Remember, these appeals were made to 43 per cent of the population who were Indians no farther advanced than in the days of Cortez, and 28 per cent who were of mixed blood and only partly civilized; to a large percentage of Madero's troops who were militant anarchists.

"Not one member of the present family, the white class, of Mexico has taken part in overthrowing the hands of either Diaz or of Madero. None of these answered Madero's call for volunteers. Now, if present Mexican will not uphold the hands of a strong government, what can they expect for their country?

"Everybody acquainted with conditions in Mexico knows that if universal suffrage were established there today Zapata would be elected against all other candidates. Everybody knows that the overthrow of a strong government in Mexico means anarchy. The Army? The army today is drinking pulque.

While General Huerta was fighting the revolutionists three miles from the line, 147 bridges were burned on the railroad south of Juarez, and bandits were camped nearby feeding on beef stolen from the cattle companies. No attempt was made to drive them out. When some of these bands surrounded useless guns, they were immediately pardoned by General Blanco, permitted to keep the horses they had stolen, and were equipped with modern rifles. When the victims of their depredations complained and threatened to report them, they replied that they were working for Huerta and Blanco.

"All these bands it has been ascertained, receive support from So-cietas in San Diego, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Minneapolis, Sacramento and Cleveland—militant Socialist and anarchist organizations here, which have been supplying $1,000 monthly for printing and circulating their revolutionary literature.

"Of these bands, Zapata, in the south, is major general, and Salazar is chief in the north. Orozco having for a time disappeared. All these leaders come from the middle class of mixed blood. Whenever Zapata chooses he can put in the field 2,000 men, equipped to march into Mexico City, and Orozco can bring 5,000 mountaineers, sharpshooters of the type that drove the French out of Mexico.

"Conditions are worse than any of you can imagine. Whole districts can never again recover from the depredations of these Marauding bands do not hesitate to shoot up any settlement they travel through, out of sheer vandalism, wrecking the buildings, and driving the women and children to the mountains."

GAGGED AT A GNAT—

Senator Evans is the introducer of Senate bill No. 169, which provides for the payment of traveling expenses for delegates to the national conventions not to exceed $250. The same senator voted against the salary bill, presumably on the ground that it was too hard on the taxpayer. Some of our legislators never seem to have heard of the jewel, consistency.
